Annual Water Carnival To Be Presented Friday

Cast Chosen From Among Life Savers and Other Good Swimmers In College
—Only One Performance

The annual Water Carnival, under the direction of Miss Florence Elliott and Russell Hillis, will be presented Friday afternoon, June 3 at 2 p.m.

The title of the carnival is "Legend of the Waves," and the principal participants are:

Princess Minona — Evelyn Hamill
Prince Cluster — Jimmy Phillips
Prince Coose — Walter Moore
Prince Otanga — John N. Harris
Father of Princess Haggard Cherry Minister — Julius Hurst

The plot develops from the attempt of Prince Coose to kidnap the princess, who is saved by Prince Cluster. They fall in love and plan to be married, but complications arise when the rejected suitor, Prince Otanga comes to claim the bride. The wedding is interrupted for a brief fight, with Prince Cluster's tribe emerging as victors, and in the end he marries the princess.

Miss Elliott has a cast of twenty-five students who were selected from the Life Savers and other swimmers in school. Throughout the program various formations and exhibitions of life-saving methods will be demonstrated by this group.

There will be an admission fee of 10 and 25 cents. Attention is called to the fact that there will be only one presentation of the carnival this year instead of the customary two.

Burton Appointed Editor The Volette For Fall Quarter 1938

Kathryn Burton of Paris, has been appointed editor of The Volette for the Fall Quarter of the session of 1938, according to H. H. Kroll, sponsor of the college publication.

Miss Burton has already served as substitute editor of the school paper for the past few issues, following the resignation of Jew Franklin. She has therefore demonstrated marked ability in the field of college journalism.

Home Ec For Boys

It is not unusual to hear this question asked, "Do you mean that the boys at the Junior College actually study home economics?"

Yes, they do. And, strangely to say the idea of homemaking for boys and men is not a new one. The number of such courses in high schools in the United States are too numerous to list. In colleges single home economics courses have been open to men for many years. A number of years ago an occasional young man at Antioch College studied child development, participating fully in the nursery school activities. Sociology courses taught by home economists and dealing with the social problems of the unmarried young adult and problems of marrying and establishing a home have been elected by men for some time. More recently there has been a growing recognition of the need for courses in preparation for and adjustment to marriage by a wider group than those in sociology and home economics. Many "modern marriage" courses are being developed to which quite generally home economists are contributing both in the planning and the teaching. The University of Iowa has such a course now in its fifth year. Instructors from sociology, psychology, medicine, law and home economics are among those contributing. Cornell University began a similar course last year. Syracuse University offers a non-credit series of lectures to seniors. Educating for home living has been a major objective of the University of Minnesota since its beginning. Under the general title of eugenics, ten quarter courses are now offered and men are enrolled in them. These deal with selected aspects of food, clothing, housing, money management, social relationships, human development and personal adjustment.

SUMMER TERM WILL OPEN ON JUNE 8th

The Summer Term at the Junior College will open on June 8, according to J. Paul Phillips, director. Mr. Phillips calls attention to the fact that there will be but six weeks of school in the term. Courses will be offered in practically every field that is offered during the regular season.

Student-Teachers Enjoy College Life

Each year as spring approaches U. T. Junior College is happy to welcome to its halls of learning a group of teachers who once again become students. These student-teachers, as they might be called, are all ambitious persons here for the sole purpose of improving their minds. At this time of the year when our thoughts lightly turn to moonlight strolls and stolen moments in the picnic grove — fate sends these teachers to remind us that we too have a purpose here at the Junior College.

When I was asked to interview these teachers I hesitated. I did not quite know how to approach them since they usually seemed to be studying and I did not wish to intrude.

One teacher has been attending the summer session here for six years. She is attracted to the Junior College not only by the beautiful campus and scenery but the friendliness of students and faculty alike. Nowhere is one made to feel more at home.

Not all of these teacher students, however, are women. On the contrary, there are about as many men. In fact I believe it is very well divided. One young gentleman on being questioned about his teaching replied that he did not teach school. I did not wish to seem rude, but having heard that he was one of those people devoting their careers toward the enlightenment of this dark world, I insisted that he did teach. He still disagreed with me; but when the conversation reached fever heat, he conceded that he did "keep school"—but he very definitely did not teach school. He seems to like the Junior College, however, and is planning to further his education here this summer.

One teacher, who has once again become a college student expressed her opinion of the college by saying that she thought it was a distinct asset to the community as well as to the state.

Some of the new students with whom I conversed seemed rather reluctant at expressing their opinion; the reason for this, however, is obvious: they were probably interested in one of their subjects, and they felt like they could not spare time for a Volette reporter. What a Utopian campus would be ours if the regular students were so interested.

Although the Spring Term is rapidly drawing to a close, we welcome these students with a sincere hope for their presence during the Summer Term. We feel that they are a vital part of our school and a distinct asset to the student body.

AG CLUB NEWS

The Ag Club held its last scheduled meeting for the Spring Quarter of 1938. The following officers were elected to carry on the splendid work this club has been doing: President Donald Todd; vice president, David Harrison; secretary-treasurer, Joe Overton; reporter, James Wright; sergeant at arms, "Dutch" Cavender. We are looking forward to a good year.

"RETURN NOT AGAIN" TO BE PUBLISHED IN ENGLAND

Annette Heard—Mrs. Harry Harrison Kroll—whose novel "Return Not Again" was published last spring by Bobbs-Merrill Co., and was so well received by the critics and with excellent sales also, has just been notified that the novel has been published in England by Muller, Ltd., a well-known and important London publisher. The New York Times book section states that American novels are being well received in England at this time, and the publishers are encouraged to believe "Return Not Again" will be one of the outstanding American novels to be reissued in England this spring.

ALL-STUDENTS CLUB-ALUMNI FINAL DANCE JUNE 3rd

Plans for the All-Students Club-Alumni final dance for June 3 are rapidly taking form, according to President Woodrow Ryan. The affair will start at 9:30 p.m., with Jack Staulecup and his celebrated orchestra furnishing the music.

President Ryan said that approximately twelve hundred invitations had been sent out to alumni and friends of the students. A large response is expected, as the script for such an affair is very reasonable, being set at only $1.00, stag or couple, student or alumni.

Those who attended the final dance last year will remember the orchestra as one of the best to ever grace the gymnasium. All students are urged to attend and make the last affair one of the biggest successes of the year.

WILSON COUNTRY LIFE CLUB

The C. A. Willson Country Life Club was honored by the presence of Mr. L. O. Colebank on Thursday evening, May 19. Mr. Colebank has recently returned from Puerto Rico and his lecture was a most interesting sketch of life and customs on the island. The talk was made more effective by pictures which Mr. Colebank had brought with him.

Mr. Sam Garner, club sponsor, suggested a motion that the name of the club be changed from Willson Country Life Club to the C. A. Willson Country Life Club. The motion was passed so there would be no confusion as to the person in whose memory the club is named.

Officers were elected for the next year. The newly elected officers are: President, James Wright; vice-president, Joe Overton; secretary-treasurer, Pauline Lewis; reporter, Elizabeth Mitchell; sergeant at arms, Joe Thompson.

It is the sincere desire of all members of the club who will not return next year that the work of the club will make more progress in the future and will grow into an organization which will not only benefit each individual member but will be an asset to our state as well.

BURSAR GENE STANFORD ESTABLISHES LAW PRACTICE, ET AL.

At last the Junior College will have the law at its very door; even on the campus itself. Mr. Gene Stanford has been appointed notary public. If you have any papers to swear over—or other documents, where your veracity may be called into question, see Mr. Stanford and he will fix you up. The charge at first will be two bits a cuss—excuse us, an oath. It seems that a notary has to have a hand-ax or some other blunt instrument, for making his mark. Maybe there are other small fees before the notary may function. In any case, when the outfit is bought and paid for, the fee will be removed and the job will be free of charge. Time marches on, by durns!

THE NICKLEDEON DANCE IS A BIG SUCCESS

Pronounced a "big success" by all who attended, the IRC nickledeon dance in the gym on May 21 was one of the best of the year. Music was furnished by several "big name" orchestras, with names including Bing Crosby, Ted Weems and his orchestra, John Scott Trotter and his orchestra, Guy Lombardo and his orchestra, Blue Barron and his orchestra, and others.

Farewells Given By Members of Faculty and Student Body

The regular session now closing has been a most enjoyable one. It has left a record of steady achievement. The student purpose and character far from the various angles have made the year for The University of Tennessee Junior College the outstanding year in her brief history. I congratulate the student body.

Sophomores, we give you up reluctantly but we have outgrown our garments. We wish for you in a larger sphere of activity the greatest good.

Freshmen, you have finished a difficult year. We have learned you and like you. Resolve to return to complete your task.

PAUL MEEK,
Executive Officer

The classic definition of an educated person stresses learning, manners and morals and the criteria laid down by Plato still holds for us and presents a challenge. My wish is that we may all meet this challenge.

BILLIE CALDWELL.

As one who departs from the campus within the next few days, I can honestly say that I regret very deeply my departure. To my classmates, most of whom are departing with me, I give my heartfelt gratitude to a loyal, cooperative group. In any project which the sophomore class has sponsored, you have been wholeheartedly behind the project. Again, I express my deepest gratitude for your unfailing helpfulness and cooperation.

To those who take up the "torch" of the sophomore class next fall, keep it burning brightly. You are attending one of the finest colleges in Tennessee, and you have a class worthy of carrying on its traditions.

WATSON MCLEAN.

All good wishes, so long, by-by tra-la-las, adios, pag, yours truly, and everything—till we meet again.

H. H. KROLL.

ANNUAL ENROLLMENT AT U.T.J.C. TOTALS 438

The total annual enrollment for the year in all departments is 438, according to final figures released from the executive office of the Junior College. The number for the regular session of 1937-38 is 324; while the number for the summer session of 1937 and the spring term of 1938 is 114. The net total for the entire session is 438, with no name counted twice.

DR. WARD AND DR. HILL TO SPEAK DURING COMMENCEMENT WEEK

Dr. Frank Ward, Ph.D., professor of economics at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 29, at 8 p.m., in the physical education building.

Dr. Ward is prominent for his ability to speak on a variety of subjects and for his work with the Men's Bible Class at the Church Street Methodist Church, Knoxville. His class was formerly taught by Dr. H. A. Morgan, Tennessee Valley Authority chairman, and former president of The University of Tennessee. It is an unusual opportunity for this branch of the university to have a man of such prominence on its campus.

Dr. John Leonard Hill, Book Editor of the Baptist Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention since 1922, will deliver the commencement address, Friday, June 3, 1938, at 10:00 a.m.

Dr. Hill is noted throughout the South for his lectures on history, literature and inspirational topics. Since 1932 he has been editor of Home and Foreign Fields. Dr. Hill is the author of "Blackboard Outlines in the Life of Jesus."

REGIONAL F. T. A. MEETING AT JUNIOR COLLEGE

The Leaders Conference of the P. T. A., representing six counties of West Tennessee, will meet at the Junior College on June 7, Mrs. E. A. Peacock presiding. Mrs. R. B. Gordon of Memphis, and Mrs. L. W. Hughes, president, of Arlington, will be in attendance. The expectation is for two hundred members of the organization to be present that day.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS

The Student Christian Association held its last meeting in form of a vesper service and picnic in the picnic grove Tuesday May 24. A short program which consisted of a song by all the members scripture reading by Rebecca Thurmond, prayer by Mildred Shivers, and a duet "An Evening Prayer," by Kathryn and Dwight Paschall, was enjoyed. The following officers were elected for next year: President, Kathryn Burton; vice-president, Rebecca Thurmond; secretary-treasurer, Louise Odum; reporter, Pauline Lewis; pianist, Adrian Baucum; sergeant at arms, Bill Fitts. After the business was discussed all the members enjoyed a picnic lunch "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" was sung as a closing prayer.

Freshmen Win Intra- mural Swimming Meet

The freshmen broke one record in the intramural swimming meet Wednesday night, May 18 at the gym but the sophomores still lead in intramural points by a fair margin. At the present the sophomores have 202 points for the freshmen's 173.

Jimmie Phillips, freshman from Jackson, shattered the record of 35 laps in the thirty-minute distance swim when he went 39½ times around the course. Walter Moore sophomore from Whitehaven, came second with 28½ laps.

In the women's distance swim with a fifteen-minute time limit, Evelyn Hamill, sophomore from La Grange took first place with 12½ laps, while Mary D. Campbell, freshman from Tiptonville, came in second with 11½ laps.

Miss Hamill also won the 20-yard dash for women to capture more points for the sophomores. Lucille Turner, Martin sophomore, came in second to add to the sophomore's total. Miss Hamill's time was thirteen

Junior College Athletics Reach New High

Sophomores Lead in Intramural Activities—Inter-Collegiate Program Has Very Successful Year.

By NICK DENES

The sophomore class won the all-around intramural championship conducted by the Physical Education department of the U. T. Junior College by a 210-178 margin.

A tabulation of the 1937-1938 activities reveal that the sophomore boys won ten out of the sixteen events and the sophomore girls were victorious in nine out of fifteen events.

The Junior College intramural program, according to findings based on a study of physical education in the Mississippi Valley conference and a comparison of studies made in the Southern and Southeastern conferences, is far superior to the other schools in the MVC and equal to the best in the other two leading four-year university conferences. This holds true in two respects—in the number of activities and in the percentage of students participating in the activities.

The following activities were offered in the girls' program: Tennis, speedball, horseshoes, hockey, football, shuffleboard, basketball, checkers, bridge, tumbling, folk dancing, volleyball, life saving and swimming. The boys' program included: Tag football, tennis, horseshoes, cross-country, track, basketball, badminton, shuffleboard, softball, boxing, swimming, life saving, wrestling, boxing, checkers and foul pitching.

This year for the first time co-ed intramural activities were held when a volleyball game was played with both boys and girls. To stress the social benefits of athletics next fall there will be mixed swimming, folk dancing, mixed tennis, mixed horseshoes and mixed bridge teams.

Miss Jeanette Chambers won the all-around trophy offered by the Physical Education department to the boy and girl who accumulates the highest number of points during the year. The boys awards will not be determined until the last day when the softball and badminton championship is decided. The cup contestants have narrowed down to John Harris and Roy Cherry.

The champions for the year in the boys' division are as follows: Touch football, Woody Ryan team; tennis, Bill Fitts; horseshoes, James Wright; cross country, tie between Ellis and Vaughn; the boxing champions were, Bolton, Goddard, McClean, Adams Wright. Sandy Ellis won the foul pitching contest. The wrestling champions were, James Enoch, Donald Todd, Martin Griffen and W. W. Harrison. Red Goff's team won the basketball championship; John N. Harris dominated the track meet by winning four first places and running on the winning relay team. Other track champions were, McIntosh, Roy Cherry, Roberts, Charles, Matherne H. Cherry and Enoch. The checker championship went to Roy Cherry. Eleven boys qualified for life saving badges. Jimmy Phillips took the distance swim. Hurst dominated the sprints in the swimming meet, while the relays were split—the frosh taking the edley and sophomores the 440 yard relay.

The girls' champions are as follows: Speedball, Kathryn Paschall's team; Miss Hamill won tennis; Miss Lee won horseshoes; Miss Stubbfield's team won hockey; Miss Pritchett took the foul pitching; Miss Chambers came out on top in shuffleboard; Miss Hansbrough's team won the basketball honors; checkers went to Miss Paschall; Miss Pritchett's team won the volleyball crown; the Misses Turner and Warren proved the best bridge players; badminton honors went to Miss Pritchett. Misses Hamill, Turner and Campbell made life-saving badges; Miss Hamill dominated the swimming, while the freshman and sophomore classes divided the relays.

In regards to participation it was interesting to note that every boy and girl physically able competed in at

Thanks

For those members of The Vulette staff who are leaving us, we freshmen who are left wish to express our appreciation for the fine cooperation and patience you have shown us as new members of the staff. We hope your future will be filled with much success.
THE STAFF.

Friends

This is an appropriate time to talk on this subject because there are many of us who have become close friends during our stay at UTJC. A friend who is really a true one is one of the most valuable possessions one can obtain. If you have found a special friend on this campus who has proven his worth stick to him. When you leave the campus and go to another school or to some other type of work be careful about choosing your friends. Don't be too choicy, but give the thought careful consideration because you must beware of those who pretend to be your friends and really are not. We think the UTJC campus is full of true friends. These friends are not only the students but the members of the faculty they understand your troubles and will gladly sympathize if you will give them a chance. Whatever the future does with you let your constant hope be that it will give you friends.

Farewells Given

Graduation is always sad to me, because friends must say farewell and some may never meet again. However, if we look on the bright side we will think of the future ahead which will bring new friends and new knowledge.

I think UTJC is a wonderful school and I want to express my appreciation for the cooperation in the Student Christian Association and on The Vulette staff. I think this year has been filled with great progress both in curricula and extra-curricula activities. Best wishes to all you sophomores who are leaving and to you freshman, I hope we'll meet again September 20.

KATHRYN BURTON.

Our Will

Here's to those who in knowledge will seek their fill. Some of you will not, some of you will. Here's to those who will.

Here's to those who are leaving us, some of you will not, some of you will. Here's to those who will. Success, good luck, good cheer. We know that we will miss you—because—we will.

Here's to those who will remain with us, some will not, some will. Here's to those who will. We hope to be of much service to you—because—this is our will.

R. G. TURNER,
Department of Biology

This year has proven to be one of the most enjoyable that I have spent in the coaching and teaching profession. The wonderful attitude of the students, the cooperation of faculty members, and the fine physical equipment, has made this possible. I will watch with keen interest the progress made by our graduates in future years and will look forward with pleasure to seeing the new sophs back this fall.

NICK DENES.

May you who leave us, via graduation or otherwise, profit by your experience here as students. Let your accomplishments and mistakes (especially the latter) be stimulants for greater achievements. For you, we trust that this is not a final "farewell address." We hope you will visit us often.

May you who return measure up to the high standard established by your immediate predecessors. Recognize your responsibilities and meet them.

GEORGE HORTON.

One of the bad things about teaching in a junior college is that our students do not stay with us long enough. Just about the time we have all gotten acquainted and are working well together, it is time for you to leave. Yet, I am not sorry you are leaving. You have gotten, I hope all this Junior College has to offer you. You are ready for a new experience. To you sophomores that have been in my classes, I hope you have had just as much fun as students as I have had as your instructor. My wish for you is that you will always keep the open, inquisitive and tolerant mind of real students. If you do that, there is no need in my wishing you an interesting life, for you will have it.

HELEN CANNON.

To the Departing Sophomores:
Knowing you have benefitted us. The sincere and unrestricted hope that your successes and triumphs may continue, and that you errors may become less significant, and that we may realize that fullest profit from the memories you have given us comprises our deepest desire.

DAVID C. ALLEN.

These two years that I have spent on the UTJC campus have been the happiest I have ever known and the only thing I regret is that I can't spend two more years here.

The freshmen have much to look forward to in having another year with their friends, but the sophomores know when they leave that there will be many they may never see again, so these last few days will be taken up with tears and farewell.

This year's sophomores have had lots of success in all their achievements. Here's hoping that it travels with them no matter where they go. I sincerely hope that next year's student body and faculty have as good a time as we have had. The faculty has really been grand to us and we appreciate it to the fullest extent.

CHARLOTTE BOYD.

To the Students of U. T. J. C.:

Your invitation to say a few words in the final issue of The Vulette is indeed a high privilege to me.

As a new member of the college staff I may say that it has indeed been a very great pleasure to have been associated with you as a student body this year. I regret that my work is, of necessity, such that I did not have the opportunity to know more of you personally. Since my work is in the field I am sure that I will be privileged to see you again either at your homes on in your capacity at work or at school.

I shall gladly remember and cherish your kind friendship, and your cooperation in the various activities with which I was privileged to be engaged with you. I wish for all of you who are finishing here a most prosperous and happy career and that you will be able to achieve that for which you have so long cherished. To those of you who are completing your first year I wish a happy vacation and look with pleasure to see you again next year.

SAMUEL G. GARNER.

Goodbyes are more pain than pleasure. In fact, I don't like goodbyes. If you like someone a lot, then it hurts to say goodbye; and on the other hand, if you don't like someone a lot, it hurts to have to look at them long like goodbyes. I've been asked to make a "farewell address" however and I am doing my best.

For the second-year students who enough to say goodbye—so—I don't have gradually become a part of our college life here, I have aching good wishes for their future work and success in some other institution of learning, or in a position of some kind next year. For the first-year students the best I can wish for them is that they may all come back to do another year of work with us next session. In both cases, good luck be yours!

MYRTLE H. PHILLIPS,
Registrar.

I have enjoyed every minute of this year at UTJC, but it has all passed too quickly. I shall never forget the kindness that other students here have shown me. It makes me unhappy to say goodbye to my classmates and friends. I hope that all the "goats" will return next year as "sheep" and that this year's "sheep" will be happy wherever they go, and that we shall all meet again some day.

Sincerely,
SYBIL WEST.

Aloha Oe

Father Time has called us so an other labor. As teardrops dim my eyes I recall one of the most pleasant memories of my fourteen years of education. To some it may be joy to get away from UTJC, but to me—I find it very hard to say farewell to some of the most outstanding characters I have ever associated with. To those who will be next year's sophs, I wish you God's best in all you strive to do. To those who are my fellow classmates, may I see you as often as possible and may you remember me, even if it is a burden to you. To one of the most helpful and friendly faculties I have known of, I say thanks a million for your splendid efforts of guidance. To my fellow club members, you will always be remembered by me for your cooperation in club work.

During the summer I will be employed as lifeguard at Harbin's swimming pool on U. S. Highway No. 51 South and would appreciate a card letter or personal visit to the above address.

'Till we meet again may God bless you all.

WALTER "SHUCK" MOORE.

Between our welcome and farewell we hope your earch for the inheritances which has been bequeathed by the countless ages past has increased and that your life will exemplify the light which illuminates the pathway of mankind.

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD SCHMIDT.

I wish to express my appreciation in these few words for the many kind favors and friends I have found at UTJC. I believe that has been a good year, because of the splendid attitude and cooperation everyone has given. I have enjoyed every minute of my time here. May I extend to the sophomores of this year and the freshmen of next year a kind invitation to come to dear "ole UTJC" for wonderful times and beneficial knowledge.

Sincerely,
MARY D. CAMPBELL.

Remember that nothing succeeds like success. Achievement comes to those who toll, rather than to those who use shady tactics of "introgue" and "deceit". We have our destinies in our own hands. What do you propose to do about it?

With best wishes to each graduate—may the gleanings of your two years of work here be of much value to you, and to those who come in contact with you throughout the coming years, is my wish to each of you.

C. C. CRAVENS.

I would like to express in this small space the pleasure I have derived from knowing all of you. I believe that this has been a very successful year, due to the cooperation of everyone. I would like to be remembered as one of the future sophomores who will extend a hearty welcome to the present sophomores next year. Best wishes for everyone.

MARGUERITE CARNE.

If I were to select a certain year which has meant more to me than any other, my freshman year at UTJC would be my choice.

I shall never forget the many friends and wonderful times that I have gained here. Sincerely,

NELLIE BETH GEORGE.

Sorry to have you go. You have played well your part in making this for U. T. Junior College. We will miss you. Remember the joy of living, the growth of character, the development of intellect are found only along the rough road of endeavor. As you continue your work may you be found there.

We may well be proud of our freshman class. They have done their part in making this year a success. A warm welcome awaits their return next fall.

MRS. REED.

I would like very much to say just the right thing to you.

Recently, I read, that a good way to keep out of trouble is to breathe through your nose—which will necessitate keeping your mouth shut.

In order to play safe and not say the wrong thing—I will make application of this thought—and say little—so—au revoir.

NINA SWINDLER.

To you who are staying—more power to you.

To you who are going—much success.

JEW FRANKLIN.

When I first came to West Tennessee I was completely lost without my friends and the beautiful mountains we have in East Tennessee. However, now when I realize that my year at UTJC is almost finished I am finding it difficult to depart with the friends I have made. The people here are so cooperative and friendly that I can truly say my school year has been most enjoyable. Sincerely,

MARY FRANCES LEE.

To the Sophomore Football Players

A better group of fellows would be hard to find. When the going was tough you stayed in there and fought to the last ditch, and when the going was easy that same spirit and courage prevailed. Regardless of where you go and what you do after this year may the same traits that you displayed on the gridiron go with you. As a group I have enjoyed playing with each and everyone of you and I know you will be sorely missed by me as well as the rest of the freshmen when football season rolls around again. May the best of everything be yours for the asking.

JACKIE MARTIN.

To Those Who Are Going Away:

We freshmen regret that you must leave us when we have become attached to you. Your guidance and help will be missed, as well as the many wholesome good times we've had together.

We wish you the happiness you must have found here and success in your new surrounding whether they be in business or in continuing your education in another institution of higher learning.

REBECCA THURMOND.

Whether you go or stay, may Lady Luck be your constant companion.

FLORENCE ELLIOTT.

During the one short school year I have been at the Junior College it has been a pleasure to know and work with the faculty and student body. I hope that our Graduates of 1938 will continue to climb the ladder of knowledge and will be as industrious, cooperative and successful elsewhere as they have been here. And to the Class of '39, may you follow the footsteps of the preceding class.

M. HILL.

Partings are never pleasant; especially is this true when associations and friendships have been happy and wholesoms. Each year I promise myself that I simply will not get as deeply interested in next year's class and therefore avoid the tugs at my heart strings at the end of the year. But, like an old toper, my resolutions weaken and by the end of the year I am downright fond of most of you and just as sad to see you leave old UTJC as last year's class.

My sadness is mingled with pride in your moving on to other goals however. The older one grows the higher value he places on his friendship. Those of us who really like to teach find our chief satisfaction is the fact that the teacher lives through his student. Our success, your accomplishments, your honors will be our reward and our compensation. We hope you'll make us tremendously proud of having been your teachers.

Yours, always,
J. PAUL PHILLIPS.

To the Sophomores: Life is one mile corner after another. We hope your stay at the University of Tennessee Junior College Service Station has been of value to you. The teachers, or station attendants, have endeavored to put your machine in better shape for its life's run. I assure you I have enjoyed my every association with you and wish everyone the most of success.

To the Freshmen: Your servicing job at the University of Tennessee Junior College is only half completed so come back next September for your fall quarter check up. I will be glad to see everyone of you.

EARL KNEPP.

For the past two centuries agriculture has been regarded by a few of the foremost educators as worthy of a place in our public schools, but it is only within the past few decades that the dreams of these educators have been realized. Agriculture wherever well taught, has proved to be a source of strength to the school and community. The local communities, states, and nation are being successfully served by the schools through instruction in agriculture. In many instances our natural resources have been poorly used and they are almost exhausted. Most of our virgin land has been brought into cultivation and much of it has been destroyed through improper cropping systems. Yet, as our population increases, agriculture is called on to feed and support a greater number. Each rural or farm family must feed itself and three additional urban families.

Miss Ivol Spafford, who made a study of Education for Home Living for the Rockefeller Foundation says "Present thinking points to education for home living as one of the four basic areas in a college curriculum concerned with general education." Also, "In visiting classes dealing with home life problems, the serious interest of the majority of the boys and young men is always impressive."

Home Economics for boys was taught for the first time at the Junior College in the spring of 1930. The course was really the outgrowth of a felt need among the boys for some instructions in etiquette. That spring thirty-two boys registered for a non-credit course of ten lessons in food selection, nutrition, table etiquette and art as applied to clothing and the house. In January, 1933, Miss Jessie Harris and Dean Willson recommended to the curriculum committee of the University of Tennessee that such a course be included in the Junior College curriculum. The course was approved as a credit course for students registered in the College of Agriculture. In the catalog of 1933-34 the course was listed as, "Social and Home Relationships."

The course at the present time consists of five units of work: (1) Personal Relationships, (2) Personal and Family Finances, (3) Personal Appearance, (4) Nutrition and Food Selection, and (5) Etiquette. Each unit is taught by the member of the home economics staff who should be best qualified to handle that phase of the work. Other members of the faculty that have recently assisted with the course are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stanford and Mrs. Paul Phillips.

One glance at the contents of this course should show that home economics is not cooking and sewing. Modern education has for its objective, "To teach pupils to do better the desirable activities they will perform anyway." Food preparation and clothing construction are no longer the major problems of the average American home. There has been a great change in the content of home economics curricula in the last decade in order that these changing needs might be cared for. Any course which attempts to train young men for more successful personal and family living seems to meet the demands of modern education.

Home economics for boys was started on the campus to teach etiquette and the etiquette unit is still the most popular and the one that a majority of the young men feel is most helpful. This statement has been made more than once during the past quarter by various members of the class, "Why should we learn to do the correct thing when the girls do not know and would not appreciate the fact that we know?"

Well, girls and faculty, here is a real challenge to us. Perhaps the Junior College curriculum needs some changes in order that our students may learn "to do better those things that a cultured society demands that they do."

seconds flat.

Julius Hurst, freshman from Selmer, and newly elected basketball captain, swam 40 yards in 22.3 seconds to take first place in the men's division. Jackie Martin, freshman from Memphis, came in second.

Freshmen women also captured honors in the free style relay with a team composed of Virginia Clark from Martin, Mary Frances Lee from Pikeville, Millie Reid from Martin and Nellie Beth George from Ridgely. The sophomore team, composed of Lucille Turner and Janet Chambers from Martin, Madge Madden from Memphis and Helen Derrington from Big Sandy, took second place honors.

In the men's division, freshmen also took first place honors. The winning team was Julius Hurst, Jimmy Phillips, Bedford Mooring from Tiptonville, and James Pigue from Martin. Their time was 44 seconds. The sophomore team for the event was made up of Lloyd Moody, Archie Steed from Jackson, Roy and Haggard Cherry from Henderson.

The same sophomore team won the medley, however, with a time of 55.3 seconds.

least one or more sports. The most popular sports were the team sports of touch football, basketball and softball. Among the individual sports shuffleboard, badminton, tennis and horseshoes were the leaders in popularity. The girls liked hockey, speedball, volleyball and badminton the best.

The intercollegiate program was equally as successful. The football team continued as conference champions for the second consecutive year. The basketball team with 15 wins and five losses finished third in the conference. Two new sports were added this year in intercollegiate competition—a rifle team that had matches with universities as far west as California and as far east as New York, and a tennis team that played two matches.

Faculty night was started but died out because of lack of interest.

Some of the major objectives for the 1937-38 year are:

1. Continued interest in intramurals with a slightly broader program.
2. An effort to encourage the faculty, both men and women, in the use of the gym.
3. A rifle and archery range to be built this summer.
4. A coach and six matches scheduled for the tennis team.
5. More mixed intramural events for boys and girls.
6. Opening of the physical education building on Saturday afternoons for mixed events.

If the services of the Agricultural Department at U. T. Junior College are to be extended to completely fulfill the needs of the rural people of this section, it must in a great way be done through our graduates and former students. To each graduate and freshman in the school of agriculture I wish to urge you to put forth your very best efforts in the dissemination of scientific and practical information that will aid in the development of a fuller and more complete life for our rural population.

To all students it gives me much pleasure to wish for you a most successful and happy school vacation. To the sophomores I trust that you will find it possible to continue your school work until you receive your degree. To the freshmen, I am looking forward to the fall opening of school in order that I may again be associated with you.

J. E. McMAHAN.

When I was asked to write a few words for The Volette I didn't know what to say that would express my feelings for UTJC and the students and faculty of UTJC. From the first day I attended the Junior College until the present day, I have enjoyed being in Martin and UTJC. The motto of the Junior College, "Courtesy," has certainly been shown to me in every respect. So many of the institutions of learning have instructors who do not closely associate with the students, but this is not true at the Junior College. The students and faculty seem to mingle together in such a way as to make the school year enjoyable.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the different clubs and organizations which have been so good to me during my two years' stay here. I appreciate the cooperation and willingness to work which the clubs have shown to their leaders, especially the Student Christian Association and the Ag Club. In closing, I want to again express my appreciation for everything that has been done for me at the Junior College. I will never forget two of the most enjoyable years of my life—those spent at UTJC.

Always a friend of UTJC.

MILBURN JONES.

Even though farewells are sad I want to write these few words to tell all the students of UTJC how much I have enjoyed being among you this year. The fine cooperative spirit and friendliness of everyone will help me to remember this as one of the grandest years I have ever spent.

MARY JAMES LINDSEY.

In several ways this present student body has been a very unusual one. The school year 1937-38 has been a record making one. My sincere wish is that every student in this group shall continue to take part in unusually successful events. Especially do I have very happy memories of the past two years spent with our VERY FIRST class of Agricultural Engineers. My best wishes go with the eight boys who get a two-year certificate in this new course.

STEPHEN R. WOODS.

FIRST CLASS IN AG ENGINEERING GET CERTIFICATES

The first class in Agricultural Engineering gets certificates at commencement June 3rd. This course of study is very new and very difficult and the eight young men who get certificates are to be highly congratulated. The Junior College should also be very proud of the success with which this new course has met. There have been over seventy students enrolled in Agricultural Engineering during the past two years, which is an excellent showing for so new a course.

Those to receive certificates this commencement are: John Aydelott, Brantford Elliott, Jack Gray, Wyatt Jackson, Edgar Parks, Billie Pope, William Darnell and Lyman Roberts.
